Simpson Backhone of College Team. Young Simpson, at quarter back, proved to be the backbone of the game yesterday was of the highest or-der. The brunt of the attack fell to his lot, while a good share of the defensive work also came his way. His ability to carry the ball was proved olearly and he managed to get away several times for excellent runs.

On one of these, during the last quarter, Simpson menaced the high school goal and threatened for a few seconds to wipe from notice the Mar-shallites accomplishment in taking the lead. Had it not been for Blair Hercules Northern he would have been successful. The college was sending plunge after plunge into the high school line and several times had managed to get small gains. Haile had just thrown Turner for a loss by through left tackle, and there he found an opening. He was through the secondary line of defense in a twinkling and only Northern stood between him and goal. The less said about the form displayed by Blair Hercules in this tackle the better. But he got his man, and that was the big

Random Musings of Sports

That John Marshall football team played one splendid game against the Richmond College second team yesterday afternoon. It was a hard battle from the word ga, and one that would have resulted disastrously for the public-school libis had they wavered for an instant after their opponents took the lead. Coach Burruss has a game little aggregation, and one that descrives to win, so long as they play as they did yesterday.

Richmond College has nothing to he ashiamed of in their showing against Catholic University. Young Mae Pilit is credited with some dandy work during the game, and, most creditable of the Stars that made the 10-to-6 all, it was he who romped across the Catholics' geal for that score. Even a touchdown was considerably more than many local followers of the eleven had.

Marquard worked with great caution on Duffy Lewis, only to give him a base on balls. Larry Gardner surprised the Dodger infield by bunting the ball, rolling it in front of the plate. Meyers got it, but Gardner was easily safe at first and Lewis safe at second. The bunt went for a hit.

Scott, the thin short-fielder of the Sox, also bunted, and Meyers leaped forward and got the ball, this time throwing Scott out at first. The other two runners advanced, however. This brought up Forest Cady and Marquard, Meyers and Robinson, all remembered Forest from 1912.

PRINCETON, N. J., October 7.—

were able to hold the Tigers in cheek.
The game was replete with sensational plays. In the second half Jack Eddy, for Princeton, made several thirty and forty-yard runs. He also threw
